To the Stevens Community:

Please join me in the Canavan Arena this Saturday at 6 p.m. to cheer on our men's volleyball team in the quarterfinals of the NCAA Division III Championship Tournament. Students who wear red and present their Stevens ID will be admitted to the game free of charge, and the campus bookstore will be offering a 20% discount on all red apparel. There's also a complimentary pre-game tailgate barbecue for fans on the Canavan lawn starting at 5 p.m. to ignite our school spirit.

Stevens is hosting the first round and the quarterfinals of this tournament on campus this weekend, and Saturday's game is the first step in our team's quest to bring home a second national championship in the last four years.

I am so proud that our team has earned the number two seed in the tournament and has received a bye in the first round. We will take on the winner of the match between Elms College and Stevenson University in Saturday's 6 p.m. game.

Let's fill the Canavan Arena with Stevens fans and help the team advance to the national semi-finals and final at Carthage College on April 27-28 in Kenosha, Wisconsin.

I look forward to seeing students, faculty and staff at the barbecue and game to cheer on our men's volleyball team and help them advance toward another national championship!
