

Office of the President

A Record-Breaking Year at Stevens

Dear Stevens Community and Friends,

As this extraordinary academic year comes to a close, I am filled with tremendous pride reflecting on the historic achievements and milestones our university has accomplished over these past remarkable months. While higher education is facing unprecedented uncertainties, the Stevens community has remained agile and unwavering in our commitment to excellence, innovation and student success.

From national faculty honors and record-breaking research growth to unprecedented athletic success and our largest-ever Commencement ceremony, this semester has truly been one for the record books. Our ability to thrive during challenging times demonstrates the resilience and dedication that defines Stevens.

I summarize these highlights and more in the above video. I invite you to take a few minutes to watch and experience the breadth of our collective impact during this transformative year.

Thank you for your unwavering dedication to Stevens, and congratulations again to our newest graduates. I wish you all an enjoyable summer!

Per aspera ad astra.

Nariman Farvardin
President

View the End-of-Semester Address

View this email online.