To the Stevens Community:

It is with great sadness that I inform you that Darren Drake, a Master's student in the Information Systems program at Stevens, was among the victims of yesterday's attack in lower Manhattan. This is a heartbreaking loss for the Stevens community and our thoughts and sympathies are with his family and friends.

All members of the Stevens community in need of assistance in coping with this tragedy are strongly encouraged to speak to a counselor. Students can visit Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) on the 7th floor of the Howe Center; appointments can be made by calling 201-216-5177. Faculty and staff may call 1-866-713-1978 to speak with a confidential counseling service. This service is available 24/7 and is provided through ProResponse, a specialist in behavioral health solutions accredited by the Council on Accreditation/Employee Assistance Society of North America.

This is an enormous loss for our community and a moment to reaffirm our commitment to support one another through difficult times. Our prayers are with Darren's friends and family.

Per aspera ad astra,

Nariman Farvardin
