

A Note from President Farvardin

This year, our research enterprise set a new record: $87 million in externally sponsored grants — even as federal funding tightened — along with a record 92 PhDs awarded. Among the standouts, physicist Igor Pikovski won a $1.3 million Keck Foundation grant to study the detection of gravitons, a first for Stevens.

Hear from President Farvardin on why our researchers are punching above our size.