To All Faculty and Staff:

I was delighted to see so many of you at the Conversation with the President earlier this week. It was truly energizing to again have personal interactions with colleagues that I have missed over these last many months, and it was wonderful to hear the sounds of friendships being renewed among members of our community who gathered at the reception.

For those who were unable to attend, the presentation deck may be viewed here.

I hope you will mark your calendar to be on campus at our Spring 2023 Conversation with the President, scheduled for May 3. We encourage everyone to participate in this event in person—not only to stay informed about your university—but to ask questions, engage with others, and to strengthen our connected community.

With all best wishes for a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday.

Per aspera ad astra,

Nariman Farvardin
President
